Amendments Proposed.

In pursuance of article 8, section 2, of the constitution and by-laws of the Association for the Preservation of Virginia Antiquities, thirty days' notice is given that at the regular meeting, to be held Wednesday, June 10th, at noon, the following amendments will be offered by Norfolk branch:

"Whereas the Norfolk branch of the A. P. V. Association is earnestly desirous of increasing the efficiency of the association and awakening greater interest in its work among its own members, as well as with the general public, and deems it essential to that end that representation in the general meeting of the association be increased to some reasonable extent; therefore:

"Resolved, That the central committee of the association be requested to consider and report such amendment to the constitution as will provide for representation in the general meetings by delegates from the several local branches of the association, who shall be authorized to cast the vote of each local branch upon any and all questions affecting the interests of the whole association, and that such amendment to the constitution be reported at the next meeting in January, and the secretary give notice thereof, as required by the constitution.

"C. WHITTELY SAMS, Recording Secretary."

What Others Suggest.

Following is the proposed report by the central committee:

That article 5 of the constitution of A. P. V. be amended so as to read after the last word "quorum" in said article as follows:

That each local branch shall be entitled to send delegates to every general meeting of the association in the following proportions: One delegate for every ten members of each local branch, a majority of which shall have power to cast the vote of such local branch in the general meetings upon any question affecting the interests of the whole association, and that reasonable notice of time and objects of all such meetings be sent to each local branch.

The Newington branch has the following:

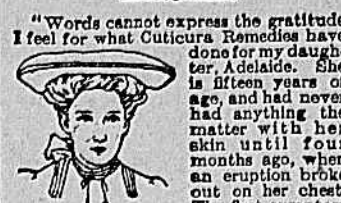

That to section 7 of the by-laws, under title of "Year Book Committee," shall be added these words:

And a year book shall be issued by

WAS DELIRIOUS WITH ECZEMA

On Chest, Back, and Head—Pain, Heat, and Tingling Were Excruciating—Nerves in Exhausted Condition—Sleep Badly Broken.

CURE BY CUTICURA SEEMED LIKE MAGIC

"Words cannot express the gratitude I feel for what Cuticura Remedies have done for my daughter, Adelaide. She is fifteen years of age and had never had anything the matter with her skin until four months ago, when an eruption broke out on her chest. The first symptom was a redness, and then followed thickening and blistering, which would break and run matter. I took her to a doctor, and he pronounced it to be eczema of a very bad form. He treated her, but instead of being checked, the disease spread. It showed itself on her back, and then quickly spread upwards until the whole of her head was affected, and all her hair had to be cut off. The pain she suffered was excruciating, and what with that and the heat and tingling her life was almost unbearable. She became run down in health, and at times was very feverish, languid, and drowsy, and occasionally she was delirious. Her nerves were in such a low state that she could not bear to be left alone. In spite of the cold weather she would insist on having her bedroom window open, and would lean out on the window-sill. She did not have a proper hour's sleep for many nights. The second doctor was tried, and ordered her just as little relief as the first, and I really do not know what we should have done if we had not read how Cuticura cured a similar case. I purchased Cuticura Soap, Cuticura Ointment, and Cuticura Pills, and before the Ointment was three-quarters finished every trace of the disease was gone. It really seemed like magic. Her hair is coming on nicely, and she still applies the Cuticura Ointment as I find it increases the growth wonderfully. Mrs. T. W. Hyde, 1, Ongar Place, Brentwood, Essex, England, Mar. 8, 1907."

A Pretty Marriage in Goodland.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

HADENSVILLE, Va., May 29.—The Christian Church was the scene of a quiet but pretty marriage Thursday, when Miss Maude Irene Parrish, of this place, became the bride of Mr. James Allison Carson, Jr., of Scotland, S. C. The church was beautifully decorated in palms, ferns and pink and white roses.

Promptly at 2 o'clock, Miss Lois Trice was escorted to the organ by Mr. C. M. Johnson, who the strains of "Lohengrin" march announced the arrival of the bridal party. First came the ushers, Messrs. R. L. Trice, Brandt Bagby, R. H. Trice, Jr., and Fred M. Parrish; then the bride, attired in a pearl gray traveling suit and carrying a large bouquet of bride roses, escorted by her sister, Miss Mary Parrish, maid of honor, who was daintily gowned in white flit net with pink trimmings, and carrying pink carnations. They were met at the altar by the groom with his brother, Rev. B. T. Carson, best man.

Rev. W. G. Burner, the pastor of the church, officiated. The impressive ceremony was made more impressive by the rendering of Thome's "Simple Confession."

Immediately after the benediction, Miss Trice struck the chords of Mendelssohn's wedding march, and the bridal party left the church to its low sweet strains.

The bride is an attractive and cultured woman, a graduate of Richmond Female Seminary, and a daughter of the late ex-Senator F. M. Parrish. The groom is a son of Rev. J. A. Carson, of South Carolina, and a gifted alumnus of William and Mary College, having won while there the medals for excellency in debate, oratory, poetry and prose.

Mr. and Mrs. Carson left on the afternoon train for South Carolina. After a brief stay there, they will spend the remainder of the summer at a resort among the mountains of North Carolina. They were the recipients of many valuable and useful presents.

Bogert—Paulding.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

NORFOLK, Va., May 29.—At the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. J. T. S. Reid, in Ghent, at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon her daughter, Mrs. Susan Reid Paulding, was married to Theodore Lawrence Bogert, a business man of New York. On account of the recent death of the bride's father the wedding was a quiet one. Only the immediate family was present. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. Howard, of St. Luke's Episcopal Church.

Carey—McCarriek.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

NORFOLK, Va., May 29.—Miss Ellen Hamilton was married to the son of Capt. J. W. McCarriek, of 207 Duke Street, and Mr. Bourdon Carey, a well-known young business man, were the principals in a quiet wedding last night at the residence of the bride's father, Rev. Father Walsh, of St. Mary's Church, officiated. Only relatives were present.

Poole—Harp.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

BRISTOL, Va., May 29.—W. E. Poole, a young business man of Roanoke, and Miss Mamie Harp, a beautiful young girl of Galax, Va., were married here at midnight Wednesday, following an exciting elopement. The couple had been courting for three years, and both the courtship and the marriage were kept a secret from the parents of Miss Harp. Dr. M. P. Carico, who in his boyhood was in love with the mother of the bride, was the officiating minister.

Whitby—Kimball.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

WHITE PLAINS, Va., May 29.—Mr. Ben Whitby and Miss Rena Kimball were united in matrimony at the Methodist parsonage here yesterday morning by the Rev. J. W. Heckman. The young people are both of Brunswick county, and will make their future home in this county.

The case of Andrew Archer and Willie Jackson, both colored, charged with stealing a quantity of oats and a bale of hay from C. B. Rader, was continued in the Police Court yesterday morning to June 20.

Henry Gaves (colored) was fined $20 for assault on William Butler.

The case of Susan Smith (colored), charged with being a suspicious character and suspected of larceny of some clothes, was continued.

Heard and Seen in Public Places

Hon. Richard Evelyn Byrd, of Winchester, Speaker of the House of Delegates, has returned from a trip to his home, where he went to try some important law cases.

Mr. Byrd did not appear at all disgruntled when seen in his office in the Mutual Building yesterday because he was not sent as a delegate to the Roanoke convention from his home city.

"I can stand such a defeat as that, if it may be so called," declared the Speaker. "My name did not go before the mass meeting, and I was, of course, therefore not defeated. A few liquor people and hangers-on of this class got together and ran things to suit themselves. My friends and the dry people of Winchester refused to participate in such a meeting, so neither my name nor that of Senator Ward was proposed for delegate."

"But I will be an accredited representative at Roanoke," added the Speaker with a smile.

The interviewer did not understand at the time what the presiding genius of the House of Delegates meant by this, but he learned afterwards from another source that Mr. Byrd was already been made an alternate by a delegate from Shenandoah county, and that it is almost certain that both he and Senator Ward will be sent as delegates from Frederick county, whose meeting will be held in a few days.

Indications are that Mr. Byrd will be chosen temporary chairman of the Roanoke convention, and as such he will be expected to outline the policy of the party in the approaching campaign.

Mr. S. W. Roberts, a traveling salesman, of Cleveland, Ohio, died at the Virginia Hospital Thursday, and his remains were shipped to his late home yesterday. Mr. Roberts had been in the city since May 20th, and was stopping at Murphy's. He was taken suddenly ill on Thursday with acute inflammation, and a physician was at once summoned. Finding that his patient was growing worse, the doctor ordered that he be taken to the hospital, where he died a few hours later.

"My ticket for delegates at large to the national convention is Swanson, Martin, Daniel and Tyler," declared Mr. J. N. Brennaman, secretary of the Democratic State Committee, at Murphy's last night. "I am for Governor Tyler," he continued, "because he has been a loyal and consistent party man, and because the great Southwestern section of the State deserves consideration."

This announcement comes with all the more force because of the fact that personal and political relations between the former executive and the secretary of the State committee have been strained for many years.

It looks as if it is practically settled that Governor Tyler will be one of the "big four," and that he will be appealed to successfully to make the fight for Congress against Representative Stearns in the Ninth District this fall. He is a man of great popularity, and as a happy, all-round story-telling campaigner he has few equals and no superiors in the State.

Hon. Thomas B. Murphy, formerly of this city, but for several years a resident of Alexandria, is here, and is stopping at Murphy's Hotel.

Though Mr. Murphy is not ready to announce any definite plans on the subject, some of his friends here have discovered that he is preparing to come to Richmond to live, and that this is really the cause of his mission here at this time. He is a native of Westmoreland county. After a most successful business and political career of many years in Richmond he went back in 1902 to the land of his birth. Engaging heavily in the lumber business in Westmoreland county and in North Carolina, Mr. Murphy found it necessary to establish offices where he could have adequate railroad and telegraphic facilities, so he removed to Alexandria. His career in Richmond was altogether successful.

He was the senior partner in the firm of Murphy & Ames, lumber dealers at Twentieth and Broad Streets, and in the meantime he was in the Common Council from Jefferson Ward for ten years. He served two terms in the lower branch of the General Assembly, declining to stand for re-election. In 1896 he was a delegate to the National Democratic Convention at Chicago, and was swept off his feet, along with all the rest, by the "cross of gold and crown of thorns" effort of the "peerless one." He later had the distinction of serving on the committee which notified Mr. Bryan of his nomination at Madison Square Garden in New York.

Mr. B. J. Wysox, a prominent merchant of Sward's Creek, A. A., and formerly second clerk in the office of the State Corporation Commission, is in the city on private business, and is stopping at Murphy's.

Mr. Wysox is a strong advocate of his friend and countryman, Hon. Henry C. Stuart, for Governor. He expresses the belief that his favorite will win the honor in the primary next year. Mr. Wysox called yesterday upon "Long Tom" Llanes, and the two discussed Stuart politics at great length. They fully agree as to Mr. Stuart's bright prospects, and declare that their end of the State will start him eastward with a rousing lead.

Talking Machines Elevate Musical Taste.

The growth of the talking machine business during the last decade has been marvelous indeed. A few years ago talking machines were handled chiefly by musical instrument stores as a mere novelty. To-day these stores derive a large part of their revenue from the talking machine business, and many large institutions have sprung up that rely solely upon this commodity. The great popularity which the talking machine has attained is due largely to the perfection to which the instrument has been brought, and to the fact that the talking machine satisfies an inborn longing for good music.

The industry has developed certain marked characteristics. One of the most obvious of these is the largely increased demand among people of refinement and means. But by far the most important characteristic is the rapidly growing popularity of the records of a better class of music.

Records He Buys.

It is an interesting study for the merchants selling records to note the stages of development through which the talking machine owner passes. The first records are bought to amuse only. In every case the change is always in an upward direction, which is perfectly natural, for, as all faculties are developed through exercise, the sense of musical appreciation is at first stimulated and then becomes discriminating, leaning toward the higher order as the sense is developed. While there have been musicians of note who in the past have rebelled against the mechanical reproduction of music, referring to it as "canned music," etc., there is at present no doubt of the important part the talking machine is playing in elevating the musical sense of the world's inhabitants.

This development of the musical taste, through the medium of the talking machine, is especially noticeable in children, and in no other way can the child's musical education be so cheaply and thoroughly obtained. Dealers are placing these machines in homes on an easy-payment plan, with payments as low as $1 a week.

That the popularity of the talking machine is not confined to the poor is best shown by the fact that many of the crowned heads of Europe delight in listening to the sound reproductions of these marvelous entertainers. King Edward of England has a machine aboard the royal yacht. The King of Spain has one, and the Sultan of Turkey also possesses many of the largest and smallest talking machines extant. The Sultan of Turkey also whistles away many a happy hour listening to the sweet strains of music. When talking machines were first introduced in Turkey they created quite a serious discussion. Many claimed that it was a sacrilege for a good Muslim to listen to the device of the evil one, but all superstitious opposition is now swept away and quite a healthy trade in the machines is carried on with the Ottoman Empire.
